The Journey to Rome

The actual journey to Rome is described in the last two chapters of Acts...

1. Caesarea to Sidon, then under Cyprus to the Asian Coast at Myra (Acts 27:1-5)

3. The ship is severely storm tossed. An angel encourages Paul. The ship is driven by Claudia to Malta [Melita] where it is wrecked but no life is lost (Acts 27:16-44).

4. On Malta Paul is bitten by a viper yet suffers no ill. He then does many miraculous healings (Acts 28:1-10).

5. After 3 months they sail to Syracuse Sicily, then to Rheim on the toes of Italy, then to Puteoli a port near Rome (Acts 28:11-14).

6. Along the road to Rome Paul is met by fellow Christians who encourage him (Acts 28:15).

7. Once in Rome Paul is allowed to have his own lodging with the soldier guarding him. He is able to have many guests to whom he preaches the gospel. This lasted two years (Acts 28:16-31).

The rest of Paul’s story and his other journeys are unknown, but maybe the Lord let him go to Spain (Rom 15:23-29).
